Students for Development

An Initiative for Protection of Jal, Jangal, Jameen, Janwar and Jan

There is peace in heavenly realm
There is peace in the environment
The water is cooling; herbs are healing
The plants are peace-giving
There is harmony in the celestial objects and perfection in knowledge;
Everything in the universe is peaceful
Peace pervades everywhere.
May that peace come to us!

Yajur Veda (10.17.1)

SFD: Activism for mother earth

Students for Development (SFD) initiated in 1992 to promote the need for sustainable development in its right form. Not just the environmental issues such as water conservation and management, plastic recycling, ban on plastic usage, forest conservation, etc. but also the issues related to the development in holistic sense that are concerned with the cultural, economic and physical (materialistic) development of person, society, nation and mankind are also dealt with so that the meaning of 'Development' is understood by the people in its right spirit.

Vriksh Mitra Abhiyan

In the national executive meeting, it was decided that Students for Development will start a tree plantation campaign and plant 1 crore trees across India. The campaign started on environment day. The students of various colleges across India took part in the campaign with enthusiasm.

Students took the responsibility of "Vriksh Mitra" and lead the initiative of tree plantation at their respective campuses.
